

For immediate release
31 March 2008

Neal to visit the Coast's first Living Green Designer Home

The Hon. Belinda Neal MP, Member for Robertson, applauded local company Living Green Designer Homes' commitment to the environment and innovation in developing a system to build affordable, carbon neutral, energy efficient housing options for the mass market.

With issues such as climate change and global warming becoming a mainstay in politics today, the Government is always interested in sustainable, green solutions to our typically environmentally unfriendly way of life.

"By using the latest in sustainable and lightweight building products, cost efficient design principles and encouraging a reduced building footprint, we are able to achieve carbon-neutral, quality homes with superior energy efficiency, at a much lower price than most options on the market," said Living Green Designer Homes' Craig Riddle, an HIA Greensmart Professional and member of both the Green Building Council of Australia and the Master Builders Association.

Living Green Designer Homes has recently completed their first home on the Central Coast, located at 5 Gheri Avenue, Wamberal.

This property has caught the attention of Ms Neal who is pleased that a locally based builder has created such an impressive alternative to the standard resource and energy hungry dwelling.

Mr Riddle believes Living Green Designer Homes' core principles set them apart from their competitors.

"Our philosophy is simple. Through streamlining the process, housing becomes environmentally friendly as well as more accessible for first home buyers, young families and retirees," said Craig. "Our model allows us to produce a carbon neutral home that is totally affordable and contemporary in design."

Living Green Designer Homes strive to construct homes using renewable and sustainable resources that are mindful of both energy and water efficiency and subsequently, result in a lesser impact on the world's resources.

Living Green Designer Homes are continually working towards further reducing the company's environmental impact, achieving carbon positivity in both their constructions as well as their offices.

For more information visit www.livinggreendesignerhomes.com.au

- Ends -

MEDIA ALERT – PHOTO CALL

The Hon. Belinda Neal MP, Federal Member for Robertson and Craig Riddle from Living Green Designer Homes at 5 Gheri Ave, Wamberal – the first of Living Green Designer Homes' carbon-neutral, affordable and energy efficient developments on the Central Coast.

Friday 4th April – 10am

For more information, interviews or photo opportunities:

Scott MacKillop

M 0404 020 476

E smackillop@brilliantlogic.com.au